Brown Deals Nunn Resounding Defeat

Governor-Elect Says State Has Been 'Taken Out Of Bondage'

By SY RAMSEY
Associated Press Writer

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Democrat John Y. Brown Jr., dealing a resounding defeat to Republican Louie Nunn in Kentucky's gubernatorial race, says, "we have taken our state and people out of political bondage."

The 45-year-old multimillionaire, who entered politics only six months ago, said his impressive mandate Tuesday showed voters, "feel they can trust me." With 95 percent of precincts reporting unofficially, Brown had 531,624 votes to 368,137 for Nunn.

The landslide triumph, although no record, ended the hopes of the 55-year-old Nunn for a second term. He served from 1967 to 1971.

"I have no intention of running again," Nunn told about 50 supporters at his election headquarters in a concession statement.

Brown, with his glamorous wife Phyllis at his side, told about 3,000 cheering backers that when the next four years are over, "I hope every Kentuckian can say this administration was the greatest we ever had."

In a later news conference, the Democrat showed traces of bitterness over the type of campaign waged by his opponent, who until the final two weeks concentrated his attacks on Brown's lifestyle.

"There was a lot in this campaign that was an embarrassment to this state (but) truth always wins out," Brown said. "It's obvious that the mud didn't stick."

Nunn said that voters "have done my family and me a great personal favor. What they have done for themselves is yet to be determined."

The Republican loser said that Brown will face problems in the next six months that might make him unpopular.

In the glow of victory, Brown declared he was taking office "with the best of intentions and freedom."

"I got elected without making the state of Kentucky for sale," he said. "I'll be able to respond to needs on a priority basis."

During the campaign, Brown avoided specific promises while charging that his foe was mortgaging half the state's next budget with pledges of roads and projects.

"I'm encouraged that people didn't ask me for anything," he said.

Brown's campaign consisted mainly of generalized calls for Kentucky to realize its economic potential, and he shed no further light on what he plans.

One issue raised by the GOP was Brown's reluctance to publicize his income tax returns — a move Brown said was unnecessary because it would serve no public good and the Internal Revenue Service had never questioned the veracity of his filings.

The gubernatorial winner said after his victory appearance that if anyone wanted to look now at the returns of the past decade, "they can come to my office (today)."

Brown and the entire Democratic ticket of seven secondary candidates — including Lt. Gov.-elect Martha Layne Collins — swept into office.

The results were obvious as soon as the first scattered returns came in.

Larry Van Hoose, executive director of the Republican Party, said that within 30 minutes after the polls closed, "we knew we were going to get swamped."

That's what happened. Brown swept six of the state's seven congressional districts, losing by only 12,000 in the GOP stronghold of the 5th.

In fact, Wayne County went for Brown by 29 votes. It was the first time since 1910 that the county voted for a Democratic governor.

In all the other statewide races, Wayne County voted Republican.

Voting was heavy for a governor's race — more than 900,000 or 52 percent of the eligible voters in a state where Democrats out-register Republicans more than 2-to-1.

Brown's momentum never slowed since he entered the Democratic primary only two months before election day and defeated four major rivals, including the choice of Democratic Gov. Julian Carroll, who could not succeed himself.

While the Nunn forces started their campaign the day after the primary, Brown vacationed and kept a low profile, emerging before Labor Day with his previous platform of installing a businessman as governor for the first time.

The lifestyle issue soon predominated, with Nunn's camp charging that Brown was a high-stakes gambler with undesirable friends who led a jetset life without caring for Kentuckians.

Brown said he was shocked at what he called a series of lies, half-truths and distortions, asserting the tactics recalled the big lie technique of Hitler and the hate approach of the Ku Klux Klan.

Issues were almost buried until the last weeks, although Nunn raised more of them than Brown.

The Republican's main topics were his proposed changes in education — including creation of a superboard for all schools in Kentucky — and his opposition to a mild form of collective bargaining for teachers espoused by Brown.

Nunn first lost his governor's race in 1963. In 1972, he was defeated in a U.S. Senate race.

Hazel Water Question Approved; Trustees, Council Elected

Local Voters Follow Statewide Trends

Calloway County voters numbering 7,303 followed voters statewide in electing the full Democratic slate for the eight state offices and approving the two constitutional amendments.

Hazel voters overwhelmingly approved the question concerning the water district and selected five trustees from the slate of eight candidates. Local voters also put their stamp of approval on the incumbent Democratic state senator and the Democratic candidate for state representative, both running unopposed, as well as 12 Democratic candidates for the Murray Common Council.

According to Calloway County Clerk Marvin Harris, the number voting Tuesday is about 45 percent of the 16,000 registered voters in Calloway County.

Voters in Hazel gave their support, 139 to 7, to the following question on the ballot: Are you in favor of the City of Hazel, Kentucky, selling its existing water and sewer facilities to the South 641 Water District paying to the City of Hazel the amount of the outstanding indebtedness on the City of Hazel Waterworks and Sewer Improvement and Refunding Revenue Bond of 1969 in the face amount of $180,000.00, bearing interest at the rate of 4 1/2 percent, in order that such District can supply potable water and proper sewer treatment and other water and sewer facilities to the residents of Hazel, Kentucky?

In the Hazel trustee election, William Pratt, an incumbent, led the slate of eight candidates with 129 votes. The four other trustees elected in the order of votes received were: Joe Thompson, 118, incumbent; Hal E. Winchester, 105; Edwin B. Knight, 100; and Ira B. Taylor, 88.

The three not elected in the order of finish were: James Hal Miller, 87; John Shendock, 83, incumbent; and Billy D. Harrell, 58.

Leading the Murray council race with 1,953 votes was Dr. C. C. Lowry, an incumbent. Others elected to the council in the order of votes received were: Dr. J. D. Outland, 1,738, incumbent; Howard Koenen, 1,662, incumbent; Steve Sammons, 1,637; J. H. (Hardeman) Nix, 1,627, incumbent; Ruby Hale, 1,591, incumbent; William R. Furches, 1,584, incumbent; William (Bill) Bailey, 1,558; Marshall Jones, 1,521, incumbent; David L. Willis, 1,519, incumbent; Paul "Dick" George, 1,499, incumbent; and Loyd B. Arnold, 1,454, former councilman.

There was no Republican opposition in the council race. Becky Wilson,

Curriculum Study, Audits Head City School Board Agenda

A curriculum study proposal at Murray Middle School and the consideration of several audits head the agenda for the Thursday, Nov. 8, meeting of the Murray Independent Board of Education. The board will meet at 7 p.m. at the board office building.

The curriculum proposal will be presented by Mrs. Doralyn Lanier, director of curriculum, while the audits of Head Start, the general budget, activity and school lunch accounts will be given by E. L. Howe Jr.

Personnel recommendations and other routine business items will also be considered at the meeting.

Burton Folsom, Kathryn Jackson, Dr. Marvin Mills, Bill Pinkston and James Hamack each received one write-in vote for the council.

In addition to the nine incumbents and one former councilman elected to the body, Sammons and Bailey were recently appointed to the council. Sammons was appointed in September to fill the remainder of the term of former council member Martha Sammons, and Bailey was appointed in October to serve out Steve Yarbrough's council term. Sammons and Yarbrough both resigned their positions.

Incumbent Richard Weisenberger of Mayfield, Democrat, garnered 4,880 votes in Calloway County as he ran unopposed for First District state senator. Murrayan Fred Curd, running unopposed as the Democratic nominee for Fifth District state representative, got 5,168 votes in Calloway County. Bill Phillips received one write-in vote for the representative post.

In the major statewide race, that of governor, local voters gave Democrat John Y. Brown Jr. a 4,901-2,303 margin over Republican nominee Louie B. Nunn. Harvey Sloane received two write-in votes, while R. B. Sloan got one write-in.

Local voting in the other statewide races showed that Martha Layne Collins, Democratic nominee for lieutenant governor, captured 4,927 votes in Calloway County to the 1,780 received by her opponent, Harold Rogers. Mrs. Collins received the most votes in Calloway County of any candidate in a contested race. Bill Cox had one write-in vote.

In the race for secretary of state, Frances Jones Mills, Democrat, received 4,315 votes to Republican Rowe Harper's 1,527. Democrat Steven L. Beshear won over Republican Ron Snyder, 4,521 to 1,335, in the contest for attorney general.

The post of auditor of public accounts was won locally by Dr. James B. Graham, Democrat, 4,194 to 1,731, over his opponent, Republican Mary Louise Foust. Drexell "Drex" Davis, Democrat, defeated Dr. James G.

Recommendations Of Personnel To Occur At County Meeting

Personnel recommendations will highlight the Calloway County School Board meeting at 7 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 8, according to Dr. Jack Rose, superintendent.

Other items on the agenda include requests for facilities, construction payments and the superintendent's reports, Rose said.

Ordinance On Two-Hour Free Parking To Be Heard

An ordinance that will allow a three-month trial of two-hour free parking in the downtown business district will be heard by the Murray Common Council on first reading Thursday.

The council is expected to amend the original ordinance to change the time period from 8:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m. to 7 a.m.-6 p.m. prior to voting on the ordinance itself.

The trial period has been approved at the request of the Downtown Merchants Association which has agreed to contribute funds to help the city defray the cost of policing the two-hour free parking limit.

As explained to the council, tires of cars parked in the downtown spaces will be marked with chalk and fines will be assessed if a car is parked in the same spot longer than two hours.

The ordinance will not go into effect until after it is approved on second reading which is not expected to occur until proper signs have been received by the city and installed on the affected streets. Parking meters will either be removed or covered during the trial period.

Also on the agenda for Thursday's 7:30 p.m. meeting will be action on a resignation from a member of the Murray Police Department force and a request for authorization to pay bills accrued to the Community Development board.

Brown's Father Offered Advice Prior To Candidacy

By MARIA BRADEN
Associated Press Writer

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The night before John Y. Brown Jr. decided he would run for governor of Kentucky, he asked his father, "Will I enjoy it?"

"Hell, no," John Y. Brown Sr. replied.

The next day, Brown called his father to tell him he was going to enter the already crowded field for the Democratic primary election two months off.

Brown Sr. recalled the exchange in an interview Tuesday night following his son's landslide victory over Republican opponent Louie Nunn.

During his victory speech, Brown acknowledged the tremendous influence his father had on him, saying he had "watched the men of my family strive to break the political machine."

"Even though his dreams may not have been fulfilled individually, they are here tonight," Brown told about 3,000 cheering supporters at a celebration in the Hyatt Regency.

He was referring to John Y. Brown Sr.'s unsuccessful candidacy for governor.

Brown hugged his father, who stood beside his son at the podium. Brown Sr. said he felt a lot like Gen. Wolfe at the Heights of Abraham, who said, "I thank God that I have lived to see the surrender of Quebec."

"I thank God that the day I have longed for and dreamed for will come about through you and Phyllis," he said.

Brown Sr. acknowledged his strong influence on his son's decision to run for governor, but said it probably wouldn't have happened without the support of his wife, Phyllis George Brown.

The elder Brown said he was having dinner with his son and daughter-in-law last March, about two weeks after their wedding, when the conversation turned philosophical.

"I started saying that just because you've got money, it isn't everything — you haven't got a goal in life," Brown Sr. said. "If money were everything, they'd build a monument to the Mafia."

The next day, Brown decided to run, his father said.

Brown Sr. has also been a strong influence on his son's philosophy of government, saying he became convinced long ago that no one should make trade-offs in politics. "You should Miss Beth Vinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Vinson of Hazel, became the bride of Keith Mangrum, son of Mrs. Janice Sanderson and Gene T. Mangrum of Mayfield, on Friday, Oct. 19, at 7 p.m. at the Hazel Baptist Church.

The Rev. James T. Garland, minister of the church, officiated at the double ring ceremony. A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Calvin Key, organist, and Mrs. Johnny White, soloist.

Miss Jo Ann Ezell, cousin of the bride, kept the guest register.

Bride's Dress

The gown was designed with an empire bodice accented with tiny seed pearls featuring a Queen Ann neckline and camelot sleeves with cuffs etched in chantilly lace.

Her fingertip veil of silk illusion fell from a Juliet headpiece that was also trimmed in the same chantilly lace with seed pearls. The circular skirt featured an attached chapel train with an enhanced hemline of chantilly lace.

She carried a colonial shaped bouquet of brown leather leaf, Sonia roses and white carnations with white satin streamers tied in love knots.

Rainey's Day

By RAINEY APPERSON

Ethel Merman must have had Pattie Mae (Mrs. Gordon) Moody in mind when she belted out her song, "The Hostess With The Mostest." Pattie Mae serves as First United Methodist Church official church hostess. What this entails is lots of WORK! and Pattie Mae does it so willingly. She was delighted the other day when she and a few of her friends found the perfect material to make table cloths to be used for all church dinners. Besides her work in the church, she does so many kind things for all of the rest of us.

The bouncy blonde cheerleader on the right end of the Eastern cheerleading squad had a familiar face and looked like she belonged to Murray. Rightly so, she is Kelley Ellis, granddaughter of Holmes and Gela Ellis and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Holmes Ellis, Jr., former residents.

Ryan said. She added that according to a survey by the Department for Human Resources, the secretarial field leads the state in job vacancies.

Ms. Thurman told the members present from 11 school districts they have the power to become whatever they desire to be.

The group voted to change the name to West Kentucky Association of Educational Office Personnel, and also to give the outgoing president a pin representing the National Association or a gavel. This will be retroactive to the past president, Lois Clark.

Counties included in the association are Ballard, Caldwell, Calloway, Carlisle, Christian, Crittenden, Fulton, Graves, Henderson, Hickman, Hopkins, Livingston, Lyon, Marshall, McCracken,

Lanette Thurman

McLean, Muhlenburg, Trigg, Union, and Webster.

HEALTH

Rhythm not all that certain

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have some questions, that I'm sure are of interest to every married couple, about birth and birth control. How many days of the month can a woman get pregnant? Does this occur only at ovulation? One source says the egg lives only one day. Others say you can get pregnant over six days. And how long does the sperm last? What causes the egg to form and what size is it? If I understand the rhythm method, and I think I do, if a woman has a 28-day cycle, she can get pregnant about the 15th day counting from the first day of her period. Is the fetus when it's first formed always a girl or is it the egg that's a girl?

DEAR READER — You can't be certain about the rhythm method because it's not all that regular. There's always some variation. The onset of menstruation is usually 14 days after ovulation has occurred. It follows that once you've menstruated you know when you last ovulated but it's particularly unreliable to try to count forward from the first day of menstruation even if a woman is regular.

The ovum is only alive about six hours. The ovum is released from the ovary under the stimulus of hormones from the pituitary gland which is the master hormone gland just under the brain. A woman's cycle is markedly influenced by rhythms established within the brain itself. The ovum enters the tube which you might think of as the horn of the uterus. If there's live sperm cell in the tube and one of these joins with the ovum, it becomes fertilized and a pregnancy has started.

The sperm cell may survive at least two days and sometimes a longer period of time. It follows that if you've had sex two or three days before ovulation and live sperm cells are still available whenever ovulation occurs, it's possible to get pregnant. That's why there's a period of several days, usually about mid-cycle, when a woman is most apt to get pregnant.

Sex is determined by chromosomes (genes). Females have two X chromosomes in all the cells of the body and males have an X and a Y chromosome. The ovum always has one X chromosome. There are two kinds of sperm cells. Those that carry an X chromosome only, these are called the female sperm cells, and those that carry only one Y chromosome and these are called the male sperm cells.

If a female X-chromosome sperm cell unites with the ovum, then the first cell union will have a pair of X chromosomes. This will be a female. All the other cells that are generated as the initially fertilized ovum multiplies will also have two X chromosomes.

If the sperm cell that fertilizes the egg carries one Y chromosome, the union results in a single fertilized ovum which has an XY chromosome. All the cells that are formed in the subsequent growth and generation process will likewise carry an XY pair of chromosomes and this will be a male.

For general information on the woman's cycle and system, I am sending you The Health Letter number 5-12, Menopause. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. An AP News Analysis

Some Good May Come For GOP

By SY RAMSEY
Associated Press Writer

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The political wind that blew the Kentucky Republican edifice into shambles Tuesday may bring some good after all, if a few GOP insiders are to be believed.

"It will change what has to be changed and bring new blood into the party," one said. "The domination by the Nunn is over."

He meant former Gov. Louie Nunn, who went down to shattering defeat before Democrat John Y. Brown Jr. in the governor's race, and state GOP chairman Lee Nunn, his brother, who was largely responsible for the negative emphasis the campaign took almost from the outset.

One segment of the Republican Party has complained increasingly over the years that Louie Nunn controlled its destiny to the extent that he did not give promising younger prospects the needed opportunity for political exposure.

Nunn, the 55-year-old warhorse, succeeded in becoming governor in 1967, and that alone gave him great power because the party traditionally has fared so poorly for that post.

But in 1972, the former governor lost a U.S. Senate race to Democrat Walter "Dee" Huddleston by 36,000 votes while then-President Nixon was carrying Kentucky by a 300,000-plus landslide.

Now, the tremendous margin by which Brown has dealt a mortal blow to Nunn's prestige, and the Republican leader said in his concession statement that he would not seek public office again.

That could leave the leadership reins in the hands of more youthful Republicans.

Among the potential gap-fillers are Jefferson County Judge Mitchell McConnell, who won that office with his own style and technique; 6th District Congressman Larry Hopkins, who succeeded a Democrat, and Larry Forgy, a bright Louisville attorney who thought of running for governor this time, but changed his mind after Nunn declined to tell him whether he was going to seek the governorship again.

McConnell counted some small triumphs Tuesday in local Jefferson County elections.

Hopkins, who exerted routine efforts for Nunn this time, earlier was associated with the anti-Nunn faction in the party.

Forgy, who was in the Nunn administration a decade ago, has yet to seek public office.

Then, too, there is Harold Rogers of Somerset, originally a factional foe of Nunn who became his running mate as part of a peacemaking deal between 5th District Congressman Tim Lee Carter and Nunn.

But Rogers' prestige may have dipped because he also got swamped in the Democratic landslide, losing to Democrat Martha Layne Collins for lieutenant governor by even more than Nunn lost to Brown.

McConnell almost certainly covets a statewide office, and the question is whether it is governor in 1983 or perhaps the U.S. Senate in 1980.

Hopkins once set up a finance committee in preparation to run for governor this year, then was sidetracked when an opportunity arose for the GOP to run a candidate in the wake of the defeat of the late John Breckinridge, an incumbent Democrat.

Former state Sen. Ray White of Bowling Green, the losing opponent of Nunn in the GOP gubernatorial primary, could revive his political hopes in any reshuffling of the party hierarchy.

Other GOP prospects for statewide office might be state Sen. Walter Baker of Glasgow, who is respected by legislative colleagues, and Tom Emberton, an Edmonston lawyer who tried unsuccessfully to succeed Nunn as governor in 1971.

Larry Van Hoose, the GOP state executive director who may go out with the Nunn in the event of internal change, has acknowledged that someone will have to fill the void left by Louie Nunn.

But Van Hoose, a loyal follower of Nunn through the years, is not conceding that Brown's victory showed the vulnerability of the current GOP party leadership.

"The voters thought John Y. Brown looked good and sounded good and they just went with him," Van Hoose commented Tuesday night.

HEARTLINE

Heartline is a service for senior citizens. Its purpose is to answer questions and solve problems — fast. If you have a question or a problem not answered in these columns, write Heartline, 114 East Dayton St., West Alexandria, Ohio 45381. You will receive a prompt reply, but you must include a stamped, self-addressed envelope. The most useful replies will be printed in this column.

HEARTLINE: I heard something on the radio about a proposal to subject half of the Social Security benefits to income tax. I didn't hear the entire story on the radio, just caught the tail end. Who made such a proposal and has it become law? What does Heartline think of this proposal? — P.J.

No. It is not a law at this time, just a proposal. It is one of a number of recommendations from the Social Security Advisory Council supposedly designed to strengthen and broaden financing and coverage of the system. The council claims such a tax would generate $1.5 billion to $2 billion a year.

The council stressed that benefits paid to many retired Americans would be exempt from taxation since many Social Security recipients can barely make do on the little they receive. The council estimates a program of taxation would only affect 15 to 20 percent of all Social Security recipients.

It is Heartline's opinion that 15 to 20 percent is too many. Every American is already forking out an increasing amount in paycheck withholdings to finance a still close-to-bankrupt retirement program. The Advisory Council's recommendations amount to playing "double jeopardy" with a class of Americans who deserve better from their government.

Although Heartline has heard a few sensible proposals from the government on how to put Social Security back on its feet, this, we believe, is not one of them.

HEARTLINE: We seem to be hearing so much lately about fraud and abuse in our welfare system. I have never heard anything about this type of problem in the Medicare program. Does Medicare have this same problem? — H.N.

In a government program like Medicare, where in the calendar year 1978, over $17.7 billion was paid out in hospital claims and $7.3 billion was paid out in medical claims, there is likely to be a certain amount of fraud, abuse or opportunism. Considering the magnitude of the Medicare program and the amount of claims, all the facts seem to point to a remarkably small amount of fraud and abuse.

HEARTLINE: I am the widow of a Korean conflict veteran and have one dependent child. Our combined annual income is $1,916. Am I eligible for a widow's pension from the VA under the new improved pension law? — G.V.

You may be entitled to a widow's pension since your income is below the $3,425 limit for a widow with one dependent child. Contact your nearest Veterans' Administration regional office for information and assistance.

HEARTLINE: My husband will soon be retiring from the railroad. I will apply at that time for a spouse annuity. I know the age requirements. Are there any other requirements for a spouse annuity? — T.W.

The employee and spouse must be members of the same household, or the spouse must be receiving regular support payments from the employee, or the employee must be under court order to make such payments.

The couple must be married at least one year, unless they are the natural parents of a child. A widow or a widower of a railroad employee who gives up rights to a railroad retirement survivor's annuity when marrying a retired railroad employee is also eligible.

The spouse must also give up any preretirement employment and relinquish any such employment rights.

Little Good News In Housing Market

CHICAGO (AP) — Don't expect interest rates to fall sharply. Be prepared for a continued siege of tight money. Don't expect to get top price if you have to sell your house in a hurry.

If this sounds very negative it is because the immediate outlook for housing is too, as judged from speeches and interviews with regulators and mortgage lenders gathered at their convention here.

It might even mean the end of the old conventional mortgage, in which a borrower's interest payments remained fixed for the 20-year or 30-year life of the mortgage.

In short, there's much bad news at this year's annual convention of the U.S. League of Savings Associations, whose members collectively claim more than 50 percent of all residential mortgages outstanding.

"Housing starts are going to fall 22 percent no matter what action we take," said Jay Janis, chairman of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board. Said Kenneth Thygeson, the league's chief economist, "Most of us see a recession."

Joseph Benedict, league president, said it succinctly: "Inflation is our worst enemy. It is at the root of most of our problems."

"Be prepared for a relatively lengthy period of very high interest rates and very tight credit," he said. He was vague on the precise length of time because of questions about a related problem energy.

Should there be another increase in prices by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, he explained, his most optimistic forecast — of some easing of tight money by January — goes out the window. Tight money might then persist into mid-year, he said.

Most of the 7,000 delegates here seem to agree with Benedict's assessment that the Federal Reserve's anti-inflation policy has to be given a chance "even though it will adversely affect our earnings."

A recession is viewed by them as a purgatory through which they must pass if monetary conditions are to return to near normal. But near normal, too, is one of those vague phrases. In the near future, say economists and others here, single digit mortgage rates are unlikely. If mortgage rates reach 13 percent generally, said Thygeson, "I don't see a drop below 11 percent."

What will the recession mean for owners of homes whose values were pumped up by demand, by inflation, by speculation?

Statements here indicate prices should hold fairly well. "No collapse or holocaust," said Philip Jackson, a former Federal Reserve Board member.

One factor bolstering the market is demographics. In the next 10 years, Benedict said in an interview, "there will be about a third more people reaching age 30 as reached that age in the past 10 years."

The Story Of Calloway County 1822-1976

By Dorothy and Kerby Jennings

Copyright, 1978

Once the nation had gotten onto its feet from the effects of the post-war depression, the youth of Calloway County once again began to surge over Detroit—to the tune of thousands. Highland Park in suburban Detroit became a watering hole for new arrivals where they could stroll down Woodward Avenue to greet native Calloway folks with the regularity they had experienced on court square in Murray. At one time, it was a reasonable estimate that more than 3,000 persons from Calloway County lived in Highland Park and Detroit.

No young man reached Highland Park who could not find a friend from home who could assist him over to the first payday, perhaps nothing more than a compassionate custom transplanted from his beloved county, but a convenient arrangement that assured those short-of-money newcomers they would not be penniless in a strange city. Far more arrived without sufficient tide-over funds than those who were able to make it on their own. So long as you were a newcomer from Calloway County, credit was extended at the Grand Avenue Restaurant for meals, a gathering place for folks from back home. This can be said with absolute assurance for this writer happened to be the owner and cook of that place. It might be added, cheerfully, the practice was a wise adventure for less than 1 per cent failed to meet their meal ticket obligations.

In addition, the little restaurant was a communication center where veteran job holders would dispense advice as to the best work and the higher wages could be found. In addition, it was here where passenger pools would be organized to and from Calloway County and indirectly where the vast clean-up shops of Calloway County originated. The prosperity period in Detroit before the Great Depression resulted in hundreds of entire families relocating in the northern city. Men accustomed to family life in Calloway County promptly brought their fireside group, usually following the head of the tribe within a few weeks, consolidating and lessening domestic expenses, and in hundreds of instances paying off a farm mortgage back home in the meantime.

In belated observation, the Detroit experience proved to be calamitous to many a fine man. Here they found an abundance of moonshine, alley beer, gambling halls in which to waste their new-found prosperity. Recreation was concentrated in pool halls, blind pigs, taxi dance halls, black and tans—but sorry substitutes for Sunday schools, Fourth Mondays, fairs, swimming holes and family dinners. In no way is it intended to leave the impression that hundreds of young men and older Callowayans did not engage in wholesome activities in which they had previously been accustomed, but do mean to state that the overall experience was devastating for the greater part of our people in Detroit during the Roaring 20's. At the same time, those few Callowayans who became permanent northern citizens evolved into a stable, dependable and worthy people in their adopted land.

Rudolf Nureyev Breaks Toe During Performance

BERLIN (AP) — Ballet star Rudolf Nureyev broke a toe on his right foot while performing in West Berlin, officials of the Berlin Opera Ballet said today.

They said Nureyev finished the performance of "The Nutcracker" Monday night despite the pain. It had been his last scheduled performance of his appearance here.

After the ballet, the 41-year-old Nureyev was taken to a West Berlin hospital for treatment. Doctors advised him not to perform for at least four weeks.

Nureyev has flown to Paris where he was scheduled to dance in 20 performances of a new ballet, "Manfredo."

Start, Finish Same For Nunn

By JOHN WINN MILLER
Associated Press Writer
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Louie B. Nunn ended his campaign for governor of Kentucky the way he started it — working the crowd like a traditional courthouse politician.

Thirty minutes after the polls closed in east Kentucky, Nunn knew he had lost.

But the GOP nominee waited until 8:15 p.m. to concede the race to Democrat John Y. Brown Jr. Nunn, 55, and his wife Beulah were greeted with cheers and applause by some 100 dejected supporters at a local hotel. "I wish the best for the governor-elect," Nunn said. "Having served as governor, I am well aware of the grave responsibilities of the office."

Nunn, who lost by almost a two-to-one margin, said he had no regrets about the campaign. "I might have changed some minor things, but hindsight is always better than foresight," he said.

Asked why he conceded so soon after the polls closed in west Kentucky, Nunn quipped, "Because I lost."

After the speech, the former governor mingled with the crowd, shaking hands and consoling tear-eyed supporters. It was a different atmosphere from 12 years ago when Nunn became the first Republican elected governor in 20 years.

This time around, however, Nunn couldn't overcome the traditional handicap facing Republican candidates in a largely Democratic state.

"The Democrats came out of the primary with a fresh face and a fresh candidate, which automatically gave them a 60-40 edge," said campaign aide Danny Boggs. "And we couldn't do anything to change that."

Nunn agreed with Boggs' assessment, saying that it was almost impossible to catch up with Brown because the Democrats apparently were united behind their candidate.

"History proves that if the Democrats get a change in the primary that they are happy with, then the Democrat will win," Nunn said.

State campaign director Larry Van Hoose said that Brown's initial lead in the polls never changed much. "Our surveys never moved," he said.

Van Hoose also said the outcome of the election was known after only 30 minutes because of information received from 125 key precincts.

The voters picked "rainbows and pretty words over reality," Van Hoose said.

"Personally, I think the press decided to represent the race as a horse race of new versus old and fantasy versus reality," Boggs said.

Nunn said he doesn't plan on running for office again, but said he will support other candidates.

And he had a final prediction: "When the crocuses bloom I'll look better to the people of Kentucky than before."

Won't Take Noah For an Answer

DEAR ABBY: As a pro who gets paid for writing scripts, articles, etc., I must be nuts writing to you. However, I can't resist pointing out your misuse of the expression, "lucked out." You wrote in praise of Gamblers Anonymous: "Many compulsive gamblers have LUCKED OUT by joining this wonderful group of people."

According to the Dictionary of American Slang (Wentworth & Flexner) "lucked out" means "to be out of luck" or "to have met with ill fortune or disaster."

You probably won't pay attention to this anyway.

MARINA DEL REY MORT

DEAR MORT: According to Webster's New World Dictionary of the American Language, "lucked out" means "to be lucky" or "to have things turn out favorably."

So, regardless of whether one buys my authority or yours, it would appear that I "lucked out" either way.

DEAR ABBY: Last night I watched a baby die. The child was 11 months old and strangled on a piece of apple. The baby's mother was away and the child was being kept by a girl down the street.

By the time the baby-sitter arrived at our house, the child was probably dead. There were 10 people at the house where I was, and only one knew what to do. The rest of us watched helplessly and horror-stricken the hopeless efforts to revive the dying child.

The baby's mother, who will never live down the fact that she was not there; the 14-year-old babysitter, who will never forget the fact that she could not help; and the 10 of us who will never forget the tragic consequences of that night cannot be helped by the fact that this is such a common occurrence.

The child was pronounced dead on arrival at a hospital despite a two-hour effort by the paramedics when they arrived.

Abby, if only one person will take the time to learn CPR—cardiopulmonary resuscitation—and what to do in a case like this, then my letter will not be in vain.

But in any case, should there be a next time for me, I will know!

DEBBIE IN COSTA MESA, CALIF.

DEAR DEBBIE: Thank you for writing. Readers, CPR instruction is free. For information concerning time and place of classes, contact your local Red Cross or Heart Association.

DEAR ABBY: You and MASSACHUSETTS MOM, who can't understand her husband's objections to allowing their 13-year-old daughter to pierce her ears, should stick this in yours!

I, too, have a 13-year-old daughter who desperately wants her ears punctured. Since my wife, who has two artificially added holes in HER head, supports the idea, I am constantly getting it from both sides.

Some of us obstinate old dads feel strongly that defacement of the body or any of its appendages in pursuit of fad dish fashion is unnecessary, unnatural and unwholesome, though it may not be unholy.

Just as a sailor shouldn't request a tattoo when drunk, a young girl not of gypsy heritage should not decide to have her head modified until of legal age.

Today the ears, tomorrow the noses!

A.C.: CALIFORNIA DAD

Martha Layne Collins Risen Through Ranks; Began On Precinct Level

By HERBERT SPARROW
Associated Press Writer
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Martha Layne Collins has risen steadily through the ranks of the Democratic Party, beginning on the precinct level as a campaign worker.

Mrs. Collins reached a new plateau Tuesday night when she addressed hundreds of happy followers at the Hyatt Regency Hotel as Kentucky's newly elected lieutenant governor.

Mrs. Collins' victory led a sweep of statewide offices by the Democrats, with every candidate topping 58 percent of the vote.

Joining Mrs. Collins as winners Tuesday were: Steve Beshear as attorney general, Drexell Davis as treasurer, Frances Jones Mills as secretary of state, James Graham as auditor, Raymond Barber as superintendent of public instruction and Alben Barkley II as agriculture commissioner.

With 99.6 percent of the vote counted early today, Mrs. Collins was running ahead of the landslide margin by which Democratic gubernatorial victor John Y. Brown Jr. defeated Republican Louie Nunn. Mrs. Collins had 63 percent of the vote in her race against Republican Hal Rogers, good for a 222,000-vote margin.

Beshear had a 61 percent to 39 percent advantage over Ron Snyder in the attorney general's race, while Davis won the treasurer's race with a 59-41 margin over James Wilhite.

Mills defeated Rowe Harper 62-38 in the secretary of state race, and Graham was a 58-42 victor over Mary Louise Foust for auditor.

Barber took 65 percent of the vote in beating Frank Groschelle for the superintendent's post while Barkley gathered 62 percent against Roy Gray for the state's top agriculture post.

"This was a Democratic victory, but it's your night," Mrs. Collins told the celebrating crowd. "They say a journey of a thousand miles begins with one step. We thank you for being with us on each step of the way."

Mrs. Collins began as a precinct worker, was Kentucky's Democratic national committeewoman under former Gov. Wendell Ford and is finishing a four-year term as the last elected clerk of the state Supreme Court.

Mrs. Collins has remained a close political ally to Ford, who is now a U.S. senator.

Mrs. Collins survived a close primary contest in which she defeated former federal Highway Administrator William Cox by just over 5,000 votes.

Mrs. Collins, 42, will become Kentucky's second consecutive woman lieutenant governor, succeeding Lt. Gov. Thelma Stovall.

A former schoolteacher and beauty queen, Mrs. Collins said during the campaign that she wants to expand the duties of the lieutenant governor, including serving as a liaison between local and state governments and heading an education task force.

A native of Shelbyville, Mrs. Collins now lives in Versailles, where her husband Bill is a dentist.

Rogers, 41, of Somerset, is commonwealth's attorney for Pulaski and Rockcastle counties.

Beshear, 35, a state representative from Lexington, wants to make the attorney general's office more active in the area of prosecution. He said he backs legislation to allow the attorney general to convene special grand juries and to prosecute in cases involving government corruption and organized crime.

Graham, 55, current superintendent of public instruction, had the closest race against Mrs. Foust, who served two former terms as state auditor as a Democrat before switching parties. Graham has been superintendent of schools in Nelson County, Ashland and Bowling Green.

Mrs. Mills, a former schoolteacher and state legislator, will be holding her third statewide office. Currently state treasurer, she formerly served as Clerk of the Court of Appeals.

Switching jobs with Mrs. Mills will be Davis, 57, a veteran state politician from Shelby County who will be serving his second four-year term as treasurer. He has also served an elected term as Clerk of the Court of Appeals.

Barber, 55, of Lexington, is a career educator who resigned as deputy superintendent of public instruction to run for superintendent. He is a former state legislator from his home county of Allen.

Barkley, 35, brings a prominent Kentucky political name back to the statewide scene in his first try for elective office. The grandson and namesake of the former Vice President and Kentucky senator is a Crittenden County farmer.

THE NORTH ELEMENTARY SCHOOL Fall Festival was held Oct. 26. Over twenty games and activities, such as the Lollipop Tree, the Monster Movie, the Haunted House, and the Puppet Show, were available for the public to enjoy. Those participating in the Turkey Shoot were competing for the prize of a live turkey which was donated to the school. Selected as King and Queen were: seated left to right, Jason Hunt and Reshana Darnell (representing grades K-6) and Paula Warren and Kien Dao (representing grades 7-8).

Election Day Termed Smooth At Most Of Kentucky's Polls

By The Associated Press
Dogs, stuck levers and basketball players caused a few problems for some voters but election day went smoothly at most Kentucky polling places.

In Jefferson County, workers at one precinct said voters were being chased away by three dogs.

Mechanical troubles entered the picture at Salyersville, where some people had trouble voting for city-council members because those levers would not move.

And in Boyd County, amid people waiting to vote in a high school gymnasium, several students insisted on playing basketball.

Few significant problems were reported, however.

"Very quiet, very peaceful," was the assessment of a Perry County official.

Harlan County Clerk Tommy Lee said, "I feel like we've had a real good turnout and a real good day in Harlan County."

In Warren County, an election official said, "We got started a little late because we couldn't get a couple of machines open, but otherwise things couldn't have gone much better."

Precinct workers reported a number of write in votes in Fayette and Jefferson counties, but outside those metropolitan areas few voters seemed to be writing in votes.

Election officials reported heavier-than-usual turnouts in many counties, but no one reported abnormally long lines at the polls.

One type of money that does not answer any of the descriptions for money was the Yap money of the Caroline Islands. The money resembled millstones with holes in them, and ranged in size from a doughnut to a wagon-wheel.

They were made of limestone and the hole in the middle was used to carry the money on a pole.

Political Wind May Bring Good To Republicans

An AP Analysis
By SY RAMSEY
Associated Press Writer
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The political wind that blew the Kentucky Republican edifice into shambles Tuesday may bring some good after all, if a few GOP insiders are to be believed.

"It will change what has to be changed and bring new blood into the party," one said. "The domination by the Nunn is over."

He meant former Gov. Louie Nunn, who went down to shattering defeat before Democrat John Y. Brown Jr. in the governor's race, and state GOP chairman Lee Nunn, his brother, who was largely responsible for the negative emphasis the campaign took almost from the outset.

One segment of the Republican Party has complained increasingly over the years that Louie Nunn controlled its destiny to the extent that he did not give promising younger prospects the needed opportunity for political exposure.

Nunn, the 55-year-old warhorse, succeeded in becoming governor in 1967, and that alone gave him great power because the party traditionally has fared so poorly for that post.

But in 1972, the former governor lost a U.S. Senate race to Democrat Walter "Dee" Huddleston by 36,000 votes while then-President Nixon was carrying Kentucky by a 300,000-plus landslide. Now, the tremendous margin by Brown has dealt a mortal blow to Nunn's prestige, and the Republican leader said in his concession statement that he would not seek public office again.

That could leave the leadership reins in the hands of more youthful Republicans.

Among the potential gap-fillers are Jefferson County Judge Mitchell McConnell, who won that office with his own style and technique; 6th District Congressman Larry Hopkins, who succeeded a Democrat, and Larry Forgy, a bright Louisville attorney who thought of running for governor this time, but changed his mind after Nunn declined to tell him whether he was going to seek the governorship again.

McConnell counted some small triumphs Tuesday in local Jefferson County elections.

Hopkins, who exerted routine efforts for Nunn this time, earlier was associated with the anti-Nunn faction in the party.

Forgy, who was in the Nunn administration a decade ago, has yet to seek public office.

Then, too, there is Harold Rogers of Somerset, originally a factional foe of Nunn who became his running mate as part of a peacemaking deal between 5th District Congressman Tim Lee Carter and Nunn.

But Rogers' prestige may have dipped because he also got swamped in the Democratic landslide, losing to Democrat Martha Layne Collins for lieutenant governor by even more than Nunn lost to Brown.

McConnell almost certainly covets a statewide office, and the question is whether it is governor in 1983 or perhaps the U.S. Senate in 1980.

Hopkins once set up a finance committee in preparation to run for governor this year, then was sidetracked when an opportunity arose for the GOP to run a candidate in the wake of the defeat of the late John Breckinridge, an incumbent Democrat.

Former state Sen. Ray White of Bowling Green, the losing opponent of Nunn in the GOP gubernatorial primary, could revive his political hopes in any reshuffling of the party hierarchy.

Other GOP prospects for statewide office might be state Sen. Walter Baker of Glasgow, who is respected by legislative colleagues, and Tom Emberton, an Edmonston lawyer who tried unsuccessfully to succeed Nunn as governor in 1971.

Larry Van Hoose, the GOP state executive director who may go out with the Nunn in the event of internal change, has acknowledged that someone will have to fill the void being left by Louie Nunn.

But Van Hoose, a loyal follower of Nunn through the years, is not conceding that Brown's victory showed the vulnerability of the current GOP party leadership.

"The voters thought John Y. Brown looked good and sounded good and they just went with him," Van Hoose commented Tuesday night.

Legislative Amendments Approved By 2 To 1 Vote

By The Associated Press
Constitutional amendments to change Kentucky's legislative process have been approved by about 2 to 1, with heavy favorable votes in the Louisville and Lexington metropolitan areas providing much of the margin.

With 96.2 percent of the unofficial returns in early today, a proposal to increase from two to four the number of amendments allowed on the ballot every two years was approved 180,658 to 130,897.

The second proposal, to change legislative elections from odd-to even-numbered years, was approved 184,559 to 120,799.

"The people of Kentucky have been calling for an independent Legislature," said House Speaker William Kenton, D-Lexington, who led the effort to pass the legislative-election amendment. "This gives us the opportunity to think before we act."

Currently, all House members and half the senators are elected every two years in an odd year. Changing this to even years will give legislators a year and two months after their election before the biennial legislative session begins.

Proponents claimed this would give lawmakers a year of training and that lobbyists and the public would benefit, knowing that the people to whom they talk are not "lame ducks."

The amendment also would enable legislators to offer more of a check and balance to the governor, who has the power to veto many bills after the session.

Opponents raised the issues of extra cost and confusion in procedure, and some contended giving the Assembly more time for legislation would mean more laws and regulations.

The amendment provides that House members be elected in 1981 for a three-year term and senators for five years.

Then, terms will revert to the normal two years for House members and four years for senators.

The first organizational session under the new system would be in 1983.

The other amendment increases from two to four the number of constitutional amendments that can be up for a referendum every two years. Five previous attempts to raise the limit have been defeated.

Proponents of four amendments argued that more changes are needed in the 1891 Constitution to keep pace with progress.

Customarily, the House and the Senate have each chosen one amendment to go on the referendum ballot. Advocates of change said each chamber tended to pick an amendment which will be most politically useful, and that with an extra choice, deserving proposals also would have a chance.

Opponents of increasing amendments contended too many questions on the ballot would be confusing and amendments probably would cost more money.

NCAA Running Check On 6 Gambling Players, Jackson Newspaper Says

By the Associated Press
JACKSON, Miss. — The NCAA is checking whether six Grambling University football players should be declared ineligible for postseason games this year, the Jackson Daily News reported.

The newspaper said Grambling Coach Eddie Robinson requested the investigation but refused to make public any details about it.

"When I get ready to tell the players, I'll tell you all about it," Robinson was quoted as saying. "I don't want the players thinking, 'What am I doing now if I can't play in the playoffs?' It could really affect us getting into the playoffs."

Besides, if I don't think we could represent Grambling with the people who we have out there, then I'll tell the NCAA committee to keep us out."

Grambling was declared ineligible for the playoffs last season because of a fund which was set up to make loans to players. Last year Grambling won the championship of the Southwestern Athletic Conference.

The team has nailed down at least a tie for the SWAC championship again this year and has only one conference game remaining — against arch-rival Southern on Dec. 1.

On Saturday, Grambling meets South Carolina State.

The exact eligibility questions and the names of the players were not made public.

The newspaper said Jerry Miles, the NCAA's director of events, said Grambling appears to be the only school in contention for a I-AA bid which has eligibility questions.

The team was the No. 1-ranked I-AA club last week before beating Alabama State 21-7.

Cubs' Sutter Is Named NL's Cy Young Winner

By the Associated Press
NEW YORK — Chicago Cubs reliever Bruce Sutter, who tied the National League record for saves with 37 last season, today was named winner of the NL Cy Young Award for 1979.

Sutter, who came within one save of the major league record set by John Hiller of the Detroit Tigers in 1973, narrowly defeated 21-game winner Joe Niekro of the Houston Astros in voting by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

The forkballing right-hander earned 10 of the 24 first-place ballots to become the second NL reliever and the third in baseball history to win the prize. Mike Marshall won it for the Los Angeles Dodgers in 1974 and Sparky Lyle of the New York Yankees took the American League honor in 1977.

Sutter also received six second-place votes and four third-place votes for a total of 72 points, with five points awarded for first-place mention, three points for second and one for third.

Niekro was second with 66 points. Strikeout champion J.R. Richard of the Houston Astros was third with 41 points, followed by Tom Seaver of the Cincinnati Reds (20 points), Pittsburgh Pirates reliever Kent Tekulve (14 points) and Phil Niekro of the Atlanta Braves, who was sixth with three points.

Sutter appeared in 62 games for Chicago, compiling a 6-6 record and a 2.23 earned run average in 101 innings. He struck out 110 batters and walked only 32 in becoming the second member of the Cubs to win the Cy Young. Ferguson Jenkins won it for Chicago in 1971.

Joe Niekro earned nine first-place votes and Richard garnered four, with Tekulve collecting the other.

Joe Niekro, along with brother Phil, led the NL in victories. He had a 21-11 record in 38 starts with 11 complete games and a 3.00 ERA.

A Lead No Longer

Winters Not Fooled As 76ers Oust Bucks In Overtime

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer
Milwaukee led Philadelphia by four points with 16 seconds to play, but Brian Winters wasn't fooled.

"That means nothing in this league," said the Bucks' all-star guard. "Twenty points can sometimes mean nothing."

The 76ers wiped out Milwaukee's margin on baskets by Julius Erving and Doug Collins, then went on to beat the Bucks 118-117 in overtime Tuesday night in a matchup of National Basketball Association division leaders.

"You know there is always a chance," said Collins. "In pro ball the clock stops after each basket and you get the ball at halfcourt on a timeout. You can never give up."

In other NBA games, the Seattle SuperSonics beat the Chicago Bulls 114-97, the Cleveland Cavaliers outscored the Indiana Pacers 134-117, the Phoenix Suns topped the Utah Jazz 120-107, the Atlanta Hawks edged the New York Knicks 98-96, the San Antonio Spurs beat the New Jersey Nets 108-95 and the Los Angeles Lakers defeated the San Diego Clippers 127-112.

Erving scored Philadelphia's final seven points in overtime, enough to offset a pair of desperation three-point field goals by Winters. Erving finished with a game-high 34 points for Philadelphia, which leads the Atlantic Division with a 10-2 record. Milwaukee remains atop the Midwest at 10-3.

Sonics 114, Bulls 97 — Seattle got eight straight points — four each by Lonnie Shelton and Jack Sikma — to take a 63-51 lead in the third period en route to its fifth consecutive victory. Dennis Johnson led the Sonics with 30 points, Sikma finished with 14 points and 16 rebounds and Shelton had 12 points and 14 rebounds.

Chicago has lost seven in a row and eight of 10 games since center Artis Gilmore got hurt.

Cavaliers 134, Pacers 117 — Kenny Carr, a reserve forward acquired recently from Los Angeles, scored 19 of his 21 points in the fourth quarter to lead the Cavaliers to their third consecutive victory. Center James Edwards of Indiana led all scorers with 33 points.

Suns 120, Jazz 107 — Walter Davis and Paul Westphal combined for 25 points in the fourth quarter for Phoenix, which played without flustered center Alvan Adams. The Jazz led 100-98 before Davis scored seven points in a ninepoint Phoenix run that put the game away.

Westphal finished with 31 points, Len "Truck" Robinson had 22 and Davis 21 while Adrian Dantley and Pete Maravich each scored 29 for Utah, whose 2-10 record is the worst in the NBA.

Hawks 98, Knicks 96 — Steve Hawes came off the bench to score 11 of his 15 points in a span of 5:34 in the second half to help Atlanta trim New York for its fourth consecutive victory and seventh in the last eight outings. John Drew shot 10-for-14 for 23 points and Dan Roundfield contributed 18 points, 13 rebounds and six assists.

Spurs 108, Nets 95 — San Antonio pulled away from New Jersey with a 39-point fourth quarter in which reserve forward Kevin Restani scored eight points. George Gervin topped the Spurs with 24 points, seven of them in the final period.

Lakers 127, Clippers 112 — Kareem Abdul-Jabbar had 28 points and 14 rebounds as the Lakers won their seventh home game in eight starts. Los Angeles, which shot 58 percent from the field, opened a 16-point lead in the third quarter and coasted home.

Sale Of A's, Negotiations To Be Likely Meeting Topics

By the Associated Press
KANSAS CITY, Mo. — The possible sale of the Oakland A's to a Denver oilman and the upcoming negotiations with the players' union were scheduled to be major topics of discussion today in a meeting of major league baseball owners.

A spokesman said the meetings would begin at 2 p.m., CST, and all major league clubs would be represented. American League owners were scheduled to meet separately to discuss the possibility of the sale of the Oakland franchise, which drew only about 300,000 fans last season, to Denver oilman Marvin Davis.

But American League President Lee MacPhail indicated no immediate action was likely.

"It could be weeks, it could be months or nothing may happen," MacPhail said. "Nothing is going to happen at this meeting. We are just going to update the clubs on what the situation is at this time."

The A's have eight years remaining on a lease with the Oakland Coliseum, apparently the only problem blocking the sale.

The Associated Press learned earlier that a sale was in the works that could bring major league baseball to Denver for the 1980 season.

"We've been working at this for three years," MacPhail said, "so I can't tell you it is going to fall in place at this time. We are having a player relations meeting and because all of our people will be together, we decided to review the Oakland situation.

"There are two big pieces that have to come together," MacPhail said, adding that one is A's owner Charles O. Finley and "the other is the Oakland Coliseum Board. We do not have an agreement with the Coliseum Board."

Ewing Kauffman, owner of the Kansas City Royals and a member of the AL Planning Committee, talked optimistically about resolving the Oakland problem.

"I think it will be worked out," he told the Kansas City Star. "The only stumbling block is the Oakland Coliseum Commission. There is a lot of politics involved, not from a financial standpoint, accepting a settlement is the sensible thing for them to do."

Tennessee Finds Rutgers Doesn't Come By Pound

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
AP Sports Writer

Nebraska has not had a national champion since Bob Devaney's teams won consecutive titles in 1970-71. From his current vantage point as Nebraska's athletic director, Devaney can cast a discerning eye on the 1979 Cornhuskers, ranked second nationally with an 8-0 record.

He likes what he sees.

"To this point, they're every bit as good," Devaney says, comparing the present Cornhuskers to his powerhouses. "The season's not over yet and I wouldn't say they look any better than those '70-'71 clubs, but they look just as good."

For those with short memories, the 1970 Cornhuskers were 11-0-1 and captured the national championship by defeating Louisiana State 17-12 in the Orange Bowl after Texas and Ohio State were knocked off earlier in the day in the Cotton and Rose Bowls, respectively.

A year later there was no doubt about it. Nebraska posted a 13-0 mark and swamped Alabama 38-6 in the Orange Bowl.

"Johnny Rodgers (the 1972 Heisman Trophy winner) probably had an edge on Kenny Brown at wingback, but, Brown's not too far behind," says Devaney. "At quarterback, Jerry Tagge had a little edge on Tim Hager as a runner, but Hager is as good a passer."

On Saturday, before Rutgers' game against heavily favored Tennessee in Knoxville, Coach Frank Burns read his team the following from a local prediction column:

"People around here just don't know a lot about New Jersey and the East, and I guess I have been asked a hundred times this week, 'What are Rutgers?' Some people seem to think that they are something like mathematics or physics. Others say that they always come in groups, and that it is impossible to find just one rutger by itself. One housewife told me that she bought a pound of them at the supermarket last week for 59 cents, but they must have been on sale because another lady said that she usually pays 89 cents a pound for them. This one man who has been up East told me that he doesn't know exactly what Rutgers are but he's pretty sure that they are quite a bit like yonkers. Now if I just knew what yonkers were."

The folks in Tennessee still may not know that Yonkers is a city just north of New York, but they're fully aware that Rutgers is the State University of New Jersey.

You see, Rutgers was supposed to be a breather for Tennessee between Alabama and Notre Dame, but instead Tennessee was a breather for Rutgers between William & Mary and Army. The score was Rutgers 13, Tennessee 7.

"It's the best win I've ever had in my coaching career," Burns concedes, "and it has to be somewhat of a help to our program. At least for one week people will think we can play with anyone."

The triumph was no fluke. Rutgers outgained Tennessee — a team that led No. 1-ranked Alabama 17-0 two weeks earlier before losing — 388 yards to 257. Tennessee Coach Johnny Majors called it "probably the most convincing whipping I've ever had a football team experience. We were fortunate we were not beaten worse on the scoreboard." ugh about those people.

Ups And Downs

Zorn Discovering 1979 Has Some Good, Some Bad

By JIM COUR
AP Sports Writer

SEATTLE — In his fourth season as a National Football League quarterback, Jim Zorn is discovering the ups and downs of his sport.

The Seattle Seahawks' lefthander may have had his first and cold days in his first three professional seasons, but this has really been a roller coaster year for him.

In the Seahawks' regular season opener against San Diego, he was intercepted three times and he lost a pair of fumbles. Seattle lost 31-16.

In Seattle's third game, a 27-10 victory over Oakland, he completed 13 of 22 passes for a career best 277 yards and three touchdowns.

Three weeks ago, in a 34-14 triumph over Houston, he set a Seahawk club record by completing 78 percent of his passes — 18 of 23 passes for 252 yards and three TDs.

On Sunday, Zorn and the Seahawks were embarrassed by the Los Angeles Rams 24-0. Their total yardage was minus seven yards, an NFL record for futility. The Seattle quarterback was just 2 for 17 for 25 yards.

"I'm not going to forget about that game," he promised.

His statistics aren't that far off his statistics of last season when he led the American Football Conference in passing yards.

For this season, he has completed 154 of 294 passes — 52 percent — for 1,882 yards and nine touchdowns. He has been intercepted 12 times.

Last season he completed

248 of 443 passes — 56 percent — for 3,283 yards and 15 touchdowns. He threw 20 interceptions.

Zorn isn't sure if the quarterback should get the blame for a team's defeat or a team's victory. But he also knows that's the way it is in football — college or professional.

"I know that and I accept it because that's the way it is," he said. "But I don't know how fair it is."

The Kingdome crowd of 62,048 booed Sunday. Like it or not, the Seahawks are finding out that Seattle is growing up as an NFL city. Flushed with the success of last season, the Seahawk fans are showing their displeasure with their team's results this season.

The Seahawks were 9-7 last season but stand only 4-6 this year. With six regular season games remaining, their prospects of making the NFL playoffs appear dim.

Zorn did not offer any alibis after the Rams humiliation.

"There was no effect from playing Monday night," he replied to a question about the Seahawks' 31-28 Monday night national television debut at Atlanta.

Under a swarming Ram defense, Zorn didn't have much of a chance, particularly in the second half when his team trailed 21-0. But he refused to criticize his offensive linemen.

"There are a lot of things to learn from a game like that," he added. "We were prepared, but we just didn't execute."

From the opening day of the Seahawks' training camp at Cheney, Wash., in mid-July, Zorn refused to make any payoff predictions.

Ten games into the regular season, it seems like he made a wise decision to keep his crystal ball covered.

Bowie, Williams Propel UK Blue To Victory In Harlan

By the Associated Press
HARLAN, Ky. — Freshman Sam Bowie and seniors LaVon Williams and Kyle Macy combined for 62 points Tuesday night to lead Kentucky's Blue squad to a 79-65 victory over the White team in an intrasquad scrimmage game.

Bowie, a 7-foot-1 center, scored 22 points while Williams, a 6-6 forward added 21 points and 6-3 guard Macy had 19. Bowie also had 14 rebounds and seven blocked shots while Williams contributed 10 rebounds.

Some 3,100 persons packed the Cawood High School gymnasium for the game, the second of three public scrimmages scheduled by Kentucky in advance of its Nov. 17 season opener against Duke. The final scrimmage is scheduled Thursday at Owensboro.

Guard Dwight Anderson led the White team with 28 points, including 21 in the second half. Senior guard Jay Shidner added 12 points and freshman Derrick Hord had 11.

Dr. J: 'The Game Transcends Colors'

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

Julius "Dr. J." Erving is more amused than chagrined at some of the demeaning barbs, largely racial, aimed at the entertaining aspects of professional basketball.

One of the most widely circulated goes like this: Pro basketball is 10 black men leaping for a ball every 24 seconds. Another is that if you tune in on a game in the last 10 minutes, you don't miss a thing.

New York newspapers have publicly explored the suggestion that declining attendance at Madison Square Garden may be attributable to the fact that the Knicks are all black, with no Bill Bradley or Dave DeBusschere woven into the ranks.

"Ridiculous," retorts Dr. J., one of the sport's premier talents, now with the Philadelphia 76ers. "The game transcends color. When the ball drops into the net from 20 feet out, nobody thinks of the color of the man who tossed it."

Articulate, poised, sans hangups and crusading tendencies, Erving came to New York earlier this week not to indulge in or espouse the merits of his profession but to kick off a new movie in which he has a starring role, "The Fish That Saved Pittsburgh."

It opened Tuesday night at a chain of theaters.

"It's a delightful musical comedy — colorful, witty, youth oriented with a basketball theme," the 76ers' star said. "The music is catchy. Others in the cast are Jonathan Winters, Flip Wilson, James Bond III and Meadowlark Lemon. I have a serious role with a love interest. It's all built around a team on which every member was born under the astrological sign of pisces (fish)."

It is easy to understand why Lorimar Productions chose Dr. J. He radiates the kind of charisma out of which stars are born.

A product of Roosevelt, Long Island, he attended the University of Massachusetts and in 1971 at age 21 joined the Virginia Squires of the old American Basketball Association. For the next six years he became the center of franchise battles and multimillion dollar suits involving the Squires, Atlanta Hawks and Milwaukee Bucks.

Finally he landed with the New York Nets, who subsequently traded him to the 76ers in a $2.5 million deal.

Dr. J. no longer wearing braces on his fragile knees, has fixed a timetable for his retirement — in 1982 at the conclusion of his present contract. He will be 32.

"I have been preparing a business portfolio," he said. "I don't care about going into the movies or becoming a TV commentator. I grew up in a poor family. Since I was a kid, people have been telling me what to do. I don't want any pressure. I want to be my own boss."

Free Of Tie, Coat, False Teeth, Winnipeg Coach Ready To Fight

By the Associated Press
When hockey players prepare to fight, they drop their gloves and square off. It's a little different when coaches get into the action, as indicated by Winnipeg's Tommy McVie during the Jets' game in Atlanta.

After both benches had cleared in the third period of the Flames' 8-0 victory Tuesday night, McVie tried to get at Atlanta Coach Al MacNeil. Since he had no gloves to drop, McVie instead took off his jacket, took off his tie, removed his false teeth and tried to climb over the protective glass separating the player benches before being restrained by game officials.

"He was very irrational," observed MacNeil, who — in the meanwhile — had removed his tie.

"I like this tie, so I took it off," said MacNeil. "If he had come into our box, I would have had to do something."

McVie was unavailable for comment after the game, so it was not immediately known what triggered his rage. MacNeil said the Winnipeg coach "started shouting obscenities."

In the other NHL games Tuesday night, the New York Islanders beat the Los Angeles Kings 4-1, the Vancouver Canucks tied the Minnesota North Stars 7-7 and the Hartford Whalers blasted the Colorado Rockies 7-2.

The brawl in Atlanta took 25 minutes to complete and resulted in a total of 143 penalty minutes — being assessed. The Flames had scored all their goals when Atlanta's Phil Russell and the Jets' Dave Hovda tussled at 11:15 of the third period.

Whalers 7, Rockies 2 — Remarkably, McVie and MacNeil weren't the only two coaches in altercations Tuesday night. Colorado Coach Don Cherry had to be restrained from going after a heckler after the Rockies had their onegame winning streak broken.

Gordie Howe and his son, Mark, scored a goal apiece to lead Hartford past Colorado and into third place in the Norris Division. As the game ended and Cherry made his way toward the locker room, he nearly detoured into the stands after someone yelled a few choice remarks.

An usher intercepted the enraged coach and headed him towards the dressing room.

Islanders 4, Kings 1 — Dave Langevin, Bryan Trottier and John Tonelli scored goals in a 3:23 span of the first period as the Islanders snapped a three-game winless streak by beating Los Angeles.

The Kings' goal was scored by Marcel Dionne, marking the 52nd consecutive game in which Dionne or his linemates — right wing Dave Taylor and left wing Charlie Simmer — collected at least one goal or one assist.

North Stars 7, Canucks 7 — Bill Derlago scored a third-period goal and sent Ron Sedlbauer in on a breakaway for the tying tally in the goaltender's nightmare at Vancouver.

From School Construction To Ambulance Services

Several Communities Reject Tax Hikes

By The Associated Press
Voters in many Kentucky communities have rejected proposals to increase local taxes for purposes ranging from school construction to ambulance services.

There were a few exceptions in Tuesday's voting, however. Rowan Countians chose to pay a 3 percent utilities tax to support their schools; the vote of approval was 2,597-to-1,408.

Voters in Robertson County approved the formation of a library taxing district. The measure to create a district with the power to levy a tax of 10 cents per $100 assessed valuation carried by a vote of 369-to-254.

In Fleming County, voters approved the establishment of a taxing district to operate an ambulance service. The measure, which would provide for a tax of 4.5 cents per $100 assessed valuation, passed by a vote of 1,026-to-581.

Allen County voters approved a proposed tax of 8 cents per $100 assessed valuation to support a county ambulance service. The vote was 2,454-to-803 in favor of the tax.

And Simpson County voters decided to retain a 5-cents per $100 of property valuation tax for support of the Simpson County Library. The vote was 1,224-to-968. A proposal to cut the tax to 2 cents had been placed on the ballot.

Elsewhere, tax-increase proposals were rejected by voters.

In Ashland, voters narrowly rejected a 3 percent tax on utilities that school officials said was needed to replace old buildings. The vote was 4,266-to-4,002 against the tax.

A proposed tax of 4 cents per $100 of assessed property valuation to support a county library system in Carter County was defeated 2,708-to-628.

Graves Countians voted to reject a proposed 3 percent utilities tax for school repair and construction. The vote was 2,906-to-1,690.

In north Kentucky, voters in six counties rejected a proposed tax of 4 cents per $100 of assessed property valuation for the Northern Kentucky Mental Health-Mental Retardation Board. The vote in Boone, Gallatin, Grant, Pendleton, Kenton and Campbell counties was 24,739-to-18,662 against the tax.

Grant County voters also rejected two school-tax questions that were on the ballot. The proposed tax rates would have brought in more revenue than state law allows without a referendum because of higher property tax assessments.

A proposed tax rate of 17.4 cents per $100 assessed valuation was rejected by an unofficial count of 1,020-to-449. The second tax question, to retain a 15-cent special building fund tax voted last year, was defeated by an unofficial count of 1,018-to-412.

In Marshall County, voters rejected by a 3,391-to-1,449 vote a proposed occupational tax of one-half of 1 percent for an ambulance service and additional county road funds.

A proposal to establish a taxing district to operate an emergency-rescue service was defeated 1,635-to-1,173 by Green County voters. The measure included a taxing authority of 6 cents per $100 of assessed property valuation.

Greenup County voters rejected a proposed tax of 8 cents per $10 assessed valuation to finance an emergency medical service. The vote was 4,782-to-2,727.

Greenup County voters rejected a proposed tax of 8 cents per $10 assessed valuation to finance an emergency medical service.

The vote was 5,103-to-3,093.

In Marion County, a proposed property tax rate that would have brought in more revenue than the 4 percent increase allowed under state law was defeated by an unofficial vote of 2,645-to-288.

Voters in Morgan County rejected a proposed tax levy of 10 cents on $100 assessed valuation to pay for an ambulance service. The vote was 1,076-to-659.

And Powell County voters rejected a proposed 3 percent utility tax to generate revenue for local schools by a vote of 1,415-to-651.

Clinton County voters defeated a proposal to establish a taxing district to support an ambulance service. The vote against the 10 cents per $100 assessed valuation tax was 2,461-to-364.

In mayors' races, former Ashland City Commissioner Jack Thompson was elected mayor of eastern Kentucky's largest city. Thompson received 4,670 votes to defeat former Mayor Everett Reeves, who received 4,060 votes in the non-partisan race.

John Penrod, a retired FBI special agent, was elected mayor of Paducah. He defeated Robert Cherry, who was seeking an unprecedented fourth term, by an unofficial vote of 4,772-to-3,791.

In Harlan, Roy Allison was chosen from among three mayoral candidates. Allison, appointed by the city council in January to fill the unexpired term of Fair Anna Creech, who resigned, received 705 votes to 364 for Bill Varney and 106 for Napoleon Carmichael.

Bowling Green City Commissioner Harold Miller was elected mayor of the Warren County city. He defeated Charles Wilson 5,272-to-3,440.

Bowling Green voters also rejected a proposal to allow representation of city policemen by the Fraternal Order of Police. The vote was 3,650-to-2,097.

And John Sower defeated fellow city commission member Pat Layton to become mayor of Frankfort.

Carter, Kennedy And Princess Running Water Running In Primary

By ANDREW SCHNEIDER

Associated Press Writer

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) —

Jimmy Carter, Edward Kennedy and Princess Running Water share a common quest. All are running as Democrats in New Hampshire's presidential primary.

In New Hampshire, which hosts the earliest presidential primary in the nation on Feb. 26, growing numbers of people seem to believe their grammar school civics lesson that anyone can become president.

The lengthy list ranges from political giants like Sen. Kennedy, who is arriving today, to the oddly ambitious Princess, who arrived last week.

"In our files, we've got more than 150 requests for petitions to get on the ballot, and at least two or three people a day come in to apply," says Secretary of State William Gardner.

The Princess, who says she's a full-blooded Cherokee, is back for her fourth try. Bedecked in three wigs of different colors, a battered animal skin coat and a combat helmet, the Tennessee matron proudly announced: "The silly season is here, and so is the princess. This time I'll win."

Another regular, Chief Burning Wood, hasn't arrived yet from his Louisville, Ky., home, but he's expected.

In 1968, the Chief, also known as Austin Burton, came in first on the GOP vice presidential ballot, beating four Republican governors — Ronald Reagan of California, George Romney of Michigan, John Volpe of Massachusetts and Claude Kirk of Florida.

Last month, he mailed in his filing fee. "Enclosed is 500 dollars in wampum," read the note attached to a four-foot-long rattlesnake skin.

"It's like a class reunion,"

Gardner says. "Every four years, many of the samme faces gather in New Hampshire and race around for a few days collecting signatures for their nominating petitions, then leave."

"For a lot of them it's like a vacation. Some people go to the mountains, and others run for president."

But not all of the hopefuls are in it for laughs. Democrat Richard Kay has been in the state several times seeking support.

On rare occasions when the Lions Club or League of Women Voters agrees to squeeze the Cleveland lawyer in after Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., or former CIA director George Bush, several people usually agree to sign his petition. "It's slow," Kay says, "but if I hang around long enough, I'll get my signatures."

Gardner says anyone who is 35 years old and a U.S. citizen should be allowed to try his or her luck — even someone named Love 22.

Love 22 showed up recently in an Uncle Sam outfit and is funding his campaign by selling $22 bills with his picture printed on them.

The tolerant Gardner gave him the petitions and bade him well — which is more than he did with the gorilla.

"We just drew the line at a 475-pound gorilla named Colossus G. Benson," Gardner said, recalling the only candidate he ever refused. "They wanted to photograph me giving the monkey the petitions, but I thought that went too far and was making a mockery of the system."

Kennedy Today States He Will Challenge Carter

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG
AP Political Writer

BOSTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, decrying the "lack of a clear summons from the center of power," today announced that he is challenging President Carter for the 1980 Democratic presidential nomination.

Kennedy, heir to a modern political legend, became the third brother to seek the White House. The family turned out in force for his speech at historic Faneuil Hall where Kennedy accused the Carter administration of failing to set national goals.

Kennedy said he questioned "no man's intentions," but charged there is a conflict of direction in the administration.

"Fear spreads that our leaders have resigned themselves to retreat," the Massachusetts senator said. "This country is not prepared to sound retreat. It is ready to advance. It is willing to make a stand. And so am I."

Kennedy has been men-

Crick Listed As Satisfactory After Two-Car Accident

Jim D. Crick, 33, Route 2, Murray, is listed in satisfactory condition with a fractured shoulder following a two-car accident Tuesday morning on Kentucky 783.

According to Kentucky State Police reports, Crick was southbound on 783 when another vehicle struck his car. The reports added the other vehicle ran a stop sign at the Poor Farm Road intersection.

The state police still do not have the name of the other driver, reports said.

The accident occurred at 7:18 a.m.

Empty Tobacco Barn Destroyed In Morning Fire

An early morning fire destroyed a tobacco barn located about one mile off the end of the four-lane construction of U.S. 641 North, according to a Calloway County Fire-Rescue Squad spokesman.

The spokesman said the barn, owned by Orville Witlow, was empty at the time of the fire. Cause of the fire is still under investigation, the spokesman added.

The squad received the call around 7 a.m. today.

tioned as a possible presidential candidate in every election since 1968. But today's announcement marked his first entry into the quadrennial race. On Thursday, California Gov. Edmund Brown Jr., is to enter the race for the Democratic nomination, and on Dec. 4, President Carter is to announce his quest for reelection.

Kennedy launched his first bid for the presidency — once held by his late brother John F. Kennedy — with help from his famous family. His wife Joan and their three children were seated beside him, and in the first row at Faneuil Hall were Jacqueline Kennedy-Onassis and Ethel Kennedy, widows of John and Robert Kennedy, along with Kennedy sisters Patricia Lawford, Eunice Shriver and Jean Smith. Also in the front row was Mayor Jane Byrne of Chicago, who was wooed by President Carter before she endorsed Kennedy.

The most dramatic moment came during the question-and-answer period when a reporter, noting that Kennedy and his wife have been living apart, asked if she would campaign for him.

Kennedy supporters in the program planned at North Fork Church.

The Rev. Glynn Orr, pastor of the Sedalia Baptist Church, will present a slide program of a tour of Palestine at 7:30 p.m. on Saturday, Nov. 10, at the North Fork Baptist Church.

Preceding the program of the tour, which was made in March and April of this year, will be a fellowship supper at 6:30 p.m.

The public is invited, a church spokesman said.

Kucinich Out As Cleveland Mayor; Democrats Withstand Challenges

By DON McLEOD
AP Political Writer

Cleveland Mayor Dennis Kucinich is out after two years of battling the city's bankers and his own party establishment. But Democrats retained control of other big-city governments and withstood spirited statehouse challenges in Mississippi and Kentucky.

Kucinich, who had survived last year's recall vote and two defaults on the city's debts, lost decisively to George V. Voinovich, Ohio's Republican lieutenant governor.

Even in defeat, Kucinich was still fighting. "We sacrificed the mayor's office because we refused to bow and serve to the money power of this community," he said in a defiant concession speech late Tuesday.

The final tally gave Voinovich 94,407 to 73,505 for Kucinich, who told his subdued supporters, "We stood up for the people against the corporations that are attacking the consumers every day."

Political novice John Y. Brown was elected governor of Kentucky, while political veteran William Winter captured the Mississippi statehouse.

Democrat Kevin White won an unprecedented fourth straight four-year term in Boston. And in Philadelphia, former Democratic U.S. Rep. William J. Green will succeed flamboyant, law-and-order Mayor Frank Rizzo.

In Minneapolis, Donald Fraser scored a comeback for the Democratic-Farmer-Labor Party with his election as mayor of the city he served as congressman for 16 years.

San Francisco Mayor Dianne Feinstein, appointed after Mayor George Moscone was slain last year, apparently faced a Dec. 11 runoff with secondplace finisher Quentin Kopp, a city supervisor. With 99.7 percent of the vote counted in the 10-person race, Ms. Feinstein held a narrow lead with 80,914 votes to 77,643 for Kopp.

Another runoff is in store in Houston, where Democratic Mayor Jim McConn finished first but will have to battle Councilman Louis Macey, his chief critic in city government, on Nov. 20.

Democrat William Donald Schaefer won a third term in Baltimore. Republicans Tom Moody in Columbus, Ohio, William Hudnut in Indianapolis and Margaret Hance in Phoenix, Ariz., were returned to office.

Ted Wilson, a Democrat, won reelection easily in Salt Lake City.

Richard Hatcher, who was the first black elected mayor of a major city, easily won a third term in Gary, Ind.

Incumbent Democrats Doug DeGoed in Toledo, Ohio, Maurice Ferre n

Miami and Lewis Murphy in Tucson, Ariz., also won.

Rizzo in Philadelphia, Gov. Julian Carroll in Kentucky and Gov. Cliff Finch in Mississippi all were barred by law from seeking re-election, although Rizzo tried unsuccessfully last year for a city charter revision that would have allowed him a third term.

The national Republican Party had banked heavily on Mississippi, contributing $150,000 to millionaire automobile salesman Gil Carmichael. Presidential candidates Ronald Reagan and John Connally also campaigned for the Mississippi ticket.

With over two-thirds of the vote counted, Winter had 274,956 to Carmichael's 184,244.

Former Republican Gov. Louis Nunn put up a stiff fight in Kentucky, but lost decisively to Brown after a bitter campaign. With virtually all the precincts counted, Brown had 553,077 votes; Nunn, 379,932.

Wilhite, Republican, 4,227 to 1,502, in the race for state treasurer.

Local voters gave Raymond H. Barber, Democrat, the nod for superintendent of public instruction over his opponent, Republican Frank J. Groschelle. The vote was 4,347 to 1,471. Alben W. Barkley II received 4,706 votes locally for the post of commissioner of agriculture. Republican nominee Roy C. Gray Jr. got 1,479.

The local choice for railroad commissioner was Gene Smith, Democrat, with 4,021 votes over his Republican opponent, Robert J. Bradley, who had 1,580.

Both constitutional amendments were approved by the voters in Calloway County. The first, which would increase from two to four the number of amendments allowed on the ballot every two years, was approved 1,257 to 1,101.

The second amendment, to change legislative elections from odd- to even-numbered years, was approved 1,217 to 1,005.

'Angel Street' To Be Presented At MSU

"Angel Street," a mystery thriller set in Victorian England by playwright Patrick Hamilton, will be presented by the University Theatre at Murray State University Nov. 8-10. The production is this year's entry in the American College Theatre Festival.

Curtain time for each performance is 8 p.m. in the University Theatre of the Price Doyle Fine Arts Center. Hors d'oeuvres will be served at 7:15 p.m. on Opening night Nov. 8 in the theatre lobby with everyone attending the theatre invited to participate. According to Dr. Mark Malinauskas, director of theatre on the campus, this is in celebration of the production's entry in the American College Theatre Festival.

"Angel Street" revolves around Mr. and Mrs. Manningham, who live in a house where it is suspected that an unsolved crime involving murder and stolen jewels occurred fifteen years ago.

A few months after they move into the house, Mrs. Manningham notices that things are disappearing, and she believes the gas lights in the house dim and brighten for no apparent reason. Mr. Manningham is convinced that none of these things really occur and that she may be going insane as her mother had done.

A retired policeman, Inspector Rough, resumes his investigation of the crime and questions the Manninghams about their house and the crime. As his questioning progresses he discovers clues in the strange occurrences associated with Mrs. Manningham's suspected insanity.

"Angel Street" is being directed by Robert E. Johnson, who is in his 22nd year with the University Theatre.

State Board Expresses Major Concerns

LOUISVILLE — Rising costs, revenue bonds and an ad valorem tax against lessees are three major concerns expressed by the Kentucky State Fair Board to an Appropriations and Revenue subcommittee on Development and Energy.

The fair board monitors operation of the Kentucky Fair and Exposition Center, the Commonwealth Convention Center and downtown parking structures. In Thursday's meeting with the subcommittee, the board presented a budget of $15,909,800 for the operation of the facilities.

"Basically we are asking for nothing new," said board member, William A. Stone.

A position paper presented by the board stated operational costs of these facilities have increased by 30 percent in the past three years. The fair board also has been asked to carry $425,800 in debt service requirements. In the past, sums have been appropriated to maintain the fair board debt service.

For the fair board to pay this amount would be a "tremendous hardship," according to the position paper.

The ad valorem tax was levied in June against long-term lessees. The board estimates it could lose approximately $400,000 this year because the tax will be the first cost assessed from all rental fees.

The board president was appointed a committee to resolve these problems. A report will be given to the legislators.

A budget request approved by the board includes general fund appropriations to offset the revenue losses created by the ad valorem tax in the current year and each year of the biennium for the Kentucky Fair and Exposition Center and the Commonwealth Convention Center.

The budget was amended to include one new upper-level staff person which the board said it may or may not fill.

The board also is seeking a chief operating executive responsible for the overall administration of the board's production, programs and operation of its facilities. A degree and five years of management experience with a similar operation will be required for the position.

The board will sell revenue bonds for Phase I of a facilities development plan during the current fiscal year.

Receipts which will be up approximately 3 percent at the Fair and Exposition Center will reflect an approximately annual 5 percent increase in rental of the center. However, no increase in parking charges is anticipated. Parking produces approximately $250,000 revenue per year, according to William G. Early, board member.

"We are competing with the nation for these exhibitions," Early said, "and some cities in other states are subsidizing these shows, making them (other exhibition centers) more competitive."

Receipts from the Commonwealth Convention Center are expected to increase 8 percent and 14 percent, respectively, in each year of the coming biennium.

Rep. Mark O'Brien (D-Louisville) asked whether the fair date for 1980 has been set since this year the opening conflicted with the start of school in part of the state. Aug. 7-16 is the date which has been set, according to Joseph E. Stopher, board member.

Administrative Courts Office Presents Budget To State Supreme Court

FRANKFORT — The Administrative Office of the Courts will present a tentative budget for the state court system this week to the state Supreme Court, Administrative Director of the Courts Charles D. Cole told a legislative committee today.

Cole told the Interim Joint Committee on Judiciary-Courts that the proposal has already been presented to a subcommittee of the Appriations and Revenue Committee.

The budget proposes increasing the salary of the Supreme Court Chief Justice to $59,500; the Supreme Court justices to $57,000; the Chief Judge of the Court of Appeals to $55,000; the Court of Appeals judges to $54,000; circuit court judges to $51,000 and district court justices to $48,000.

In addition, the tentative budget recommends creating four additional circuit judges and 22 additional district judges. Start-up costs for a district judgeship, including support personnel, would be about $80,000 per year, and it would cost about $105,000 for a new circuit judge position, Cole said.

However, Cole said the figures were tentative and he was unable to give legislators total costs of the proposed budget.

Currently the state court system costs about $39 million a year, he said. That figure is partially offset by income of about $36 million a year, exclusive of expenditures for court facilities, from fines, forfeitures and other payments to the court system.

Don Cetrulo, of the AOC, said the courts system would propose legislation for the upcoming session of the General Assembly that would:

—Raise the ceiling for compensating counties for renovating court facilities from 4 percent of the original cost annually to up to 11 percent, to vary with the prevailing market rate.

—Provide a financial incentive for counties to build more court space.

—Reimburse counties for the full cost of refurbishing courtrooms and —Raise compensation to counties for court space from a minimum of 40 cents a square foot to $1 per square foot.

In other action today, the committee approved for prefiling a bill that would require the state courts to presume that any law passed by the legislature is constitutional.

Some $60 million in financial aid was received by nearly 60 percent of University of Michigan students on the Ann Arbor campus in 1978-79.

How to prepare for a bitter winter.

The blue mood of winter is not due to cold, gray skies, but to the frigid nature of our souls. When our thoughts are stagnated by self-imposed depression, winter and spring and every other season seems miserable.

A good forecast always comes from a heart and mind filled with faith, hope and love. These are available at your local Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) year-round.

The spirit should be free to soar. This is why we believe that you should be free to choose your own interpretation of God's word. We feel that no one should stand between you and God. There should be an open path to travel as you see fit.

Come to church and stoke up your furnace for the winter ahead.

Thomas Carraway Recently Completes Administration Course

FORT JACKSON, S.C. — Pvt. Thomas R. Carraway Jr., son of Mrs. Sandra Graham, 508 King Cole Drive, Clarksville, Tenn., recently completed an administration course at Fort Jackson, S.C.

Students were trained in the preparation of military records and forms. Instruction was also given in fundamentals of the Army filing system, typing and operation of office machines.

His father, Thomas R. Carraway, lives on Route 2, Murray.

Membership Dues At Club Are Increased

Membership dues at the Murray Country Club will be increased $30 for each of the next two years as a result of general membership meeting at the club Monday night.

Effective January 1, an annual family membership dues at the club will be $310, as compared with the 1979 level of $280. On January 1, 1981, this will increase to $340 as a result of the 2-to-1 vote of the membership.

The annual dues for a family at the club in 1976 was $240. This figure was increased to $260 in 1977 and to its present level of $280 in 1978.

The increase, President Walter Jones told the members, will produce additional revenue of approximately $9,000 for each of the next two years.

Unanimously recommended by the board of directors, the increase, Jones said, was requested to help offset anticipated increases in operating costs during the next two years.

"With this increase in dues," he said, "it still will require a very tight operating budget to keep pace with rising costs." The club's revenue, he pointed out, is expected to increase by 18.6 percent for the period 1976 through 1979, while its operating expenses during the comparable period are expected to increase by 31.5 percent.

"The current rate of inflation — in excess of 12 percent per year — when applied to the club's $82,000 operating expenses for 1979 means that an additional $10,000 or more will be needed to operate the club at the same level during 1980 and 1981," he said.

The total number of memberships in the club has remained relatively constant over the same period, he said, adding that indications are that this trend will continue in the future. The club's membership for 1979 was listed at 308 as compared with 307 in 1976.

In a regular monthly meeting preceding the general membership meeting, the directors set a charge of $22 per luncheon cleanup during 1980, and authorized $150 to be expended in the purchase of sufficient additional tableware to bring the club's inventory to a desired level.

FORT KNOX, Ky. — Pvt. Dwayne Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Hudson, Hazel, recently completed training as an armor crewman under the One Station Unit Training (OSUT) Program at the U.S. Army Armor School, Fort Knox, Ky.

OSUT is a 13-week period which combines basic combat training with advanced individual training.

Adler Lectures On Virtue, Happiness To MSU Gathering

In a lecture entitled "Virtue and Happiness," Dr. Mortimer J. Adler, chairman of the board of directors of Encyclopedia Britannica told the gathering, Wednesday evening at Murray State University, that "in a complete life, a happy man is one who has everything he desires providing he desires what he ought to desire."

Dr. Adler, who is also known as a philosopher, author, editor, and teacher, delivered the sixth annual Clifford Sigbee Lowry Distinguished Lecture in the Humanities.

Virtue is a habit of right choice, according to Adler. The choice must be right in two ways. It must be right in the means of acquiring the virtue and right in choosing the correct means. "No one can make you virtuous but yourself," he said. "And without virtue, happiness is not achieved."

The happiness of a person's life is not determined until that life is complete, according to Adler. "Happiness is the ends consisting of many means we should attempt to acquire in a whole life," he said. The means include elements in life such as truth, values and ethics, real and apparent goods, and virtue.

"Happiness is then the terminal end we all pursue, but never obtain," Dr. Adler concluded.

He earned the Ph.D. degree at Columbia University and taught there from 1923 until 1930. He joined the staff at the University of Chicago in 1930 at the invitation of President Robert M. Hutchins and taught the philosophy of law there until 1952.

Adler is also the director of the Institute for Philosophical Research, which he founded in Chicago in 1952 for the study of ideas.

Falwell Works To Be Displayed At Disney

Bobby R. Falwell of Murray will display in the creative crafts category at the Fifth Annual Art Festival in the Village at Walt Disney World Nov. 9-11. He is among more than 200 prize-winning artists from throughout the United States who were selected to participate.

A graduate of Murray State University, Falwell has received an award of excellence in the Plaza Art Fair and awards of merit in previous Art Festivals in the Village.

Judging for the competition titled, "Festival of the Masters," will be done by several of the nation's best known artists — Ralph Bacerra, Joan Binkoff, Win Jones and Jacqueline Springwater.

The 200 finalists, chosen from 632 applicants will display a selection of paintings, sculptures, drawings, photographs, sculpture, ceramic and creative crafts amid the lush scenery of the Walt Disney World Village.

Ralph Bacerra, Chairman of the Ceramic Department of Chouinard Art School, has ceramics displayed in the United States and Japan.

Joan Binkoff, a member of the executive board of the Los Angeles Printmaking Society is a frequent juror and participant in shows throughout the United States.

Win Jones, an associate professor at Northern Illinois University, has conducted watercolor workshops and entered competitions across the nation as exhibitor, award winner and juror.

Jacqueline Springwater, a free-lance exhibition designer, lecturer, and writer, specializes in African and contemporary American crafts.

The Walt Disney World Village provides an outdoor location for this rapidly growing art festival that is a blend of California and New England atmosphere and matches the Florida greenery and waterside setting. The open air locations surrounded by the shops and restaurants of the Village attracts thousands of Central Floridians and visitors alike during the three-day run of the show. In its five-year history, the Art Festival in the Village has become one of the top exhibits of its type in the country and a major social and entertainment event in the Florida Fall calendar.

Artists compete for prizes totaling $10,000 including first ($700), second ($300) and third ($175) place and awards of merit ($75) in each category.
